

Fundraising Newsletter 5/2007

Ein Zwischenhoch für das Kunstmuseum Bern.

Mäzen Hansjörg Wyss macht seine Drohung nicht wahr, die für die neue Abteilung Gegenwart am Kunstmuseum Bern versprochenen 20 Millionen Franken zurückzuziehen. Neue Zürcher Zeitung (31.5.2007)

Spende für Kunstmuseum Bern bleibt.

Mäzen Hansjörg Wyss zieht seine 20-Millionen-Spende für den Erweiterungsbau des Berner Kunstmuseums nicht zurück. Nach einem Projektentscheid der Museumsverantwortlichen war es zuvor zu gewissen Verstimmungen gekommen. Zisch (29.5.2007)

Ocean's 13 cast in \$11m charity heist.

George Clooney, Brad Pitt, Matt Damon and other cast members of the all-star caper Ocean's Thirteen made off with millions at Cannes ahead of the movie's red-carpet premiere. Daily Telegraph Australia (24.5.2007)

UK charities join together to launch emergency appeal for Darfur and Chad.

AlertNet (24.5.2007)

Good health tied to volunteering.

Volunteering is a good way to help others, but a new study says it's also a good way to improve your health and extend your life. Philanthropy Journal (22.5.2007)

Millionaires' generosity may wane.

American millionaires were a generous lot last year, increasing their contributions by more than 20 percent, but a new study says donations in 2007 will fall. Philanthropy Journal (17.5.2007)

How charities are campaigning online.

Thought-provoking blogs, hard-hitting YouTube videos and social networking sites are raising money and awareness of UK charities, making the most of cutting-edge web tools to reach new audiences. Guardian Unlimited (17.5.2007)

Justice, not charity, for persons with disabilities.

Turkish Daily (17.5.2007)

Art charity to save Dumfries House.

The house near Cumnock in Ayrshire and its unique collection of furniture and antiques are to be sold this summer and generate almost £20m, prompting a campaign by SAVE Britain's Heritage, one of the country's most influential conservation groups, to secure it for the nation.

Glasgow Herald (17.5.2007)

Existing donors ripe for planned gifts.

While few people who make charitable donations name charities in their wills, those who do tend to have been steady donors during their lifetimes.
Philanthropy Journal (16.5.2007)

Charity Bank aims for major growth.

The only not-for-profit bank in the UK, is intending to more than double in size in the next five years.
UK Fundraising (16.5.2007)

Maximizing a non-profit salary.

CNN (16.5.2007)

Charity doesn't help!

All the religions have been serving the poor for thousands of years, and poverty goes on growing. Is this authentic service? Then in thousands of years poverty should have disappeared. In fact, you are feeding poverty.
Cybernoon (16.5.2007)

Spenden statt Kirchgeld.

Das Kirchspiel Hebel setzt auf die Spendenbereitschaft der Gemeindemitglieder.
HNA online (16.5.2007)

WEB-Skandal: Besitzervon einer Million Euro gesucht.

Masseverwalter Aichinger sucht die Besitzer von 1,035 Mill. Euro. Melden sie sich nicht rasch, dürfen sich drei karitative Vereine über eine Spende freuen.
Salzburger Nachrichten (16.5.2007)

Großspende für Londoner Royal Opera House.

Lord Hamlyn Stiftung stellt 10 Millionen englische Pfund zur Verfügung.
Klassik.com (11.5.2007)

Reconsider philanthropy.

Forbes China stopped publishing its China Philanthropy List from this year. A Forbes China manager explained that the company made the decision mainly because of the difficulty of data collection. He pointed out that today, rich Chinese tend to keep low profiles and avoid publicizing their donations.
News Agency (10.5.2007)

Oxfam says G8 breaks pledges on poverty.

Group of Eight (G8) nations had fallen far short of meeting a $50 billion (25 billion pounds) funding pledge made at a summit in Gleneagles, Scotland two years ago.
Reuters UK (10.5.2007)

100,000 volumes go on sale at charity book fair.

The annual fair at the Church of St Andrew and St George, in George Street, raises tens of thousands of pounds for Christian Aid.

The Scotsman (10.5.2007)

Donors should not philander with philanthropy.
The emergence of a strong, focused culture of corporate social responsibility has significantly increased the interaction between corporate Australia and the not-for-profit sector.
The Age (10.5.2007)

Female drivers race for charity.
Harnesslink (10.5.2007)

Calligraphy for CommChest project raises S\$300,000 for charity.
NewsAsia (10.5.2007)

Royal Opera renames hall in honour of late philanthropist.
The Royal Opera House is to rename the historic Floral Hall in honour of the late Paul Hamlyn, after a £10 million donation by the publisher's foundation.
The Times (10.5.2007)

Angelina Jolie und Brad Pitt spenden 1 Mio. USD u.a. SOS-Kinderdörfer.
UNHCR-Sonderbotschafterin Angelina Jolie und der Schauspieler Brad Pitt spenden eine Million Dollar für Bürgerkriegsflüchtlinge im Sudan und Tschad. Sie unterstützen damit die humanitäre Hilfe für mehr als vier Millionen Menschen, die Opfer der Krise in Darfur/Westsudan sind.
Dailynet.de (10.5.2007)

Art of weaving charity into rugs.
It's a long way from the whale sanctuary in Antarctica to the Australian fashion industry, but Akira Isogawa has brought the two together in a rug.
Herald Sun (10.5.2007)

Students and nonprofits forge beneficial bonds.
Columbia has joined an expanding list of schools -- including the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Chicago and Northwestern University -- that are connecting M.B.A. students with nonprofit boards and planting the seeds for community service later in their careers.
CollegeJournal (9.5.2007)

Nearly 70% of foundations give charities money for operating costs.
While charities often complain that foundations do not provide enough grants for their rent, staff salaries, and other operating expenses, a vast majority of philanthropies say they are willing to pay for such costs.
The Chronicle of Philanthropy (9.5.2007)

Changing Our World launches Archimede Philanthropy Partners and expands rapidly-growing philanthropy services.
TickerTech.com (9.5.2007)

Abe sandte Spende an umstrittenen Kriegsschrein.

Premier verzichtete auf Besuch der Gedenkstätte - China reagiert zurückhaltend, Südkorea mit Kritik.
Der Standard (8.5.2007)

"Menschen sind keine Geldmaschinen".

Er ist der Protagonist einer neuen sozialen Marktwirtschaft. Im Interview mit SPIEGEL ONLINE erklärt der Nobelpreisträger Muhammad Yunus, was Manager wirklich verdienen dürfen, wie der Kapitalismus reformiert werden kann und warum Mikrokredite den Armen mehr helfen als Geldgeschenke.
Spiegel Online (8.5.2007)

City warms to charitable causes.

Events began with Mayor Lynn Peterson and the eighth annual RBC Royal Bank Mayor's Walk. The Mayor's Walk benefits numerous charities across Thunder Bay, with donations being split this year with Volunteer Thunder Bay's Youth Volunteer Corps.
Thunder Bay Source (7.5.2007)

Optimiertes Spendensammeln.

Der neue Zauberbegriff der Spendensammler heißt "Total Quality Excellence", sinngemäß: totale Optimierung. Letztlich wollen Hilfsorganisationen damit die gesammelten Gelder effizienter einsetzen. Ein entsprechendes Zertifikat soll das bestätigen.
FR-online.de (5.5.2007)

Kindergarten ist Spende «zu heiß».

Ortspfarrer Michael Blaha hat die Spende der Gardemädchen im Namen der katholischen Kirchenstiftung Egweil abgelehnt - aufgrund moralischer Bedenken, wie er am Donnerstag auf ddp-Anfrage sagte.
PR-inside.com (3.5.2007)

Experts worry about shopping for charity.

Shopping for charity - also known as cause-related marketing - has become an increasingly important way for some philanthropies to raise funds. But some experts worry that the trend is sending the wrong message to people about charitable giving. Interest!ALERT (o. D.)

Seven things you need to know before you become a member of a nonprofit board.

Article-Warehouse.com (o. D.)

 kostenlosen monatlichen Nachrichtenbrief bestellen / stornieren

 = Schwerpunkt

Diese Schlagzeilen erscheinen laufend auf www.fundraising.co.at/aktuelles.htm. Manche Links sind zum Zeitpunkt der Versendung am Anfang des Folgemonats bereits veraltet oder erfordern Registrierung.

©D Ehrenwerth 2007

Bitte diese Seite nur mit Seitenkopf oder gut erkennbarem
Hinweis auf
The Fundraising Institute www.fundraising.co.at verwenden oder verteilen.